

Faye Medeson - Biography

With the exceedingly high value delivery of a spirited soul singer and the lyrical sharpness of a lyricist, Faye Medeson masters both the piano and the guitar and pierces the non-believers with a dart of striking devotion, determination and spark.

Born and raised in Stockholm, Sweden, nurtured by her self-employed single mother, Faye simply understood quickly that hard works pays off, and if you want achieve something in life, you've got to roll your sleeves up with determination and get it yourself. As a certified go-getter she is known never to stop until she gets what she wants, always keeping her competitors on their toes, constantly pushing herself to reach new heights and become more.

"One of the most promising up and coming soul singers from Sweden [...] instantly recruited from reality."

Mats Nileskär, P3 Soul

The Swedish legendary radio host, DJ Mats Nileskär instantly recognised the talent Faye glows with at the early age of thirteen, confidently announcing this statement during his show P3 Soul.

At the tender age of sixteen, Faye travelled to Oslo, Norway and performed at the R&B/Dancehall Festival, 'The Abraco Festival' where her performance and artistic maturity resulted in a center spread in one of the biggest Norwegian tabloids Aftenposten where she was described as a "Swedish Girl With Soul".

Today, Faye Medeson of the ever maturing age of twenty is on the verge of taking on the world. Struck and inspired by female vocalists like Aretha Franklin, Betty Lavette, Irma Thomas, Mavis Staples and Billie Holiday she finds her inspiration in the blossoming stages of soul music, when music was passionately treated with care. When it comes to writing, her urge is to provide a new visual angle and a rare kind of humble sharing of life experience which tingles within in your spine, in which Faye seems to analyse there is a lack of in the world of music today.

Nevertheless, we are all human and emotions surely paint a picture through description with lyrics from the soul. As a youth, Faye experienced accounts of violence and rage by an abusive father and more, that millions across the globe can relate to. From this, Faye made her mind up at an early age never to let other people's mistakes become her shortcomings and decided to stay positive in her ways of looking at her opportunities in life.

"I gave birth to my own happiness, the day I learnt to love myself"

Faye Medeson, "Alright"

...one of the real, honest and thoughtful lines written by this young lady, the world shall lay their eyes upon.

Through the roughest of surroundings, rises the greatest of achievers

...Faye Medeson is one of those achievers.